- May arrange a further meeting with you and the SENDCO to plan support

There are four categories of need:

- Cognition and learning
- Communication and Interaction – speech and language
- Emotional, Social and Mental Health
- Sensory and Medical

Your child might have needs that fit into one or more categories.

There are two different levels of SEND support:

- School SEND support
- Education, Health, Care Plan

At Parley First School, if staff are concerned, a child may be monitored for a period of time before any decision is made about the level of support.

A child with Cognition and Learning needs may be supported in a number of different ways:

These are examples of interventions we might choose to use:

- Additional learning opportunities such as extra reading
- Small group support
- 1:1 specialist support

A child with Communication and Interaction – speech and language needs may be supported in a number of different ways, including:

- Additional speaking opportunities to develop confidence and fluency of speech
- Pre teaching of vocabulary
- 1:1 speech and language support following a programme written by a speech therapist

At Parley First School, support is always tailored to the child's needs.

A child with Emotional, Social and Mental Health needs may be supported in a number of different ways:

- Additional opportunities to develop self- esteem/ confidence within the school day
- Charts
- Time with our Emotional Literacy Support Assistant (ELSA)
- Referral to outside specialists

At Parley First School, support is always tailored to the child's needs.

A child with Sensory and Medical needs may be supported in different ways:

- By providing emergency first aid and referral to a paediatrician
- By having a programme of exercises delivered by a trained TA
- By having outside specialist advice

At Parley First School, support is always tailored to the child's needs.

A child with an Education Health Care Plan (EHC Plan) will have individually tailored programmes of support which could include:

- Having a programme of learning tailored to individual need
- Having the support of a Teaching Assistant when required

At Parley First School, support is always tailored to the child's needs.

A child at Parley First School may receive support from other adults at the school other than their class teacher or class teaching assistant:

- Mrs Claire Aiken – SENDCO

- Occupational Therapist – who may complete an assessment and provide a programme of support for a child's fine motor development for the school to follow
- Physiotherapist – who may complete an assessment and provide a programme of support for a child's gross motor development for the school to follow
- Manual Handling Advisor – who trains staff to manage the movement of children safely
- Speech and Language Therapist – who may come into school for a short period of time to support a child's language development and to train TA's to deliver a programme of support
- CAMHS worker – who may support a family where a child is experiencing emotional / mental health difficulties
- Locality Team worker – who may support, for instance, a family where attendance is an issue
- Behavioural Support Service – who will support a child who has behaviour difficulties by working with them in school and at home
- SENSS – who complete an assessment of a child's learning needs and offer advice to school to support the child
- Educational Psychologist – who will observe a child in class and offer advice and support to school to support the child

What access facilities are available to children with SEND at Parley First School:

- At Parley First School, we work with parents/ carers and young people to identify and address needs within the school, in collaboration with other services as necessary
- The school already has physical access to most areas within the building and outside play areas with slopes for easier access
- There are Accessible toilet facilities as well as a care bed
- The Pod – available to members of the Pod and mainstream children who can access some facilities including the sensory room (Admission to the Pod is via Dorset County Council SEND team.)

If any problems do occur, speak in the first instance to:

- The class teacher
- The SENDCO
- The Headteacher
- The Chair of Governors

If these initial meetings have not solved the problem, the normal complaints procedure will be followed. This document is available from the School Office
